THE DONOWAY CENTER

Pancreatic NanoKnife Tumor Ablation for Advanced and Oligo-Metastatic Pancreatic Cancer

Dr. Donoway is using multi-modality therapy combining Pancreatic NanoKnife Tumor Ablation with chemo-immuno-radio therapy to treat advanced-stage cancer patients worldwide after they have stopped responding to the standard of care therapy and have been left with few options for further treatment.

With over 33 years of experience performing pancreatic surgery in south Florida, Dr. Donoway recognized that because of late diagnosis, up to 85% of patients treated for pancreatic cancer already had metastatic disease at the time of diagnosis. This fact limited the benefit many patients might receive from pancreatic surgery, which is problematic as surgery has long been held to be the only reproducible therapy for a cure. In reality, surgery is currently more likely Palliative in almost 80% of the cases.

Recent evidence shows that when even advanced disease is treated aggressively in an integrated approach, incorporating NanoKnife surgery with chemotherapy and now supplemented with immunotherapy, long-term survivorship can be achieved, especially when compared to chemotherapy alone.

Dr. Donoway has been a pioneer in using pancreatic NanoKnife for the past 15 years, especially for complex cases. During the past decade, patients worldwide have traveled to benefit from this groundbreaking treatment by Dr.

Donoway, which is FDA-approved. Dr. Donoway also treats other advanced cancers, such as liver, breast, anorectal and sarcomas, using NanoKnife Surgery based on its FDA-approved guidelines.

Patients experience a brief recovery, which means the patient can start chemotherapy and radiation much sooner.

Dr. Donoway feels that “we are long overdue to revise our approach to treating Pancreatic cancer. The treatment history has been largely unchanged for over 80 years and has just broken the 13% five-year survivorship barrier. Only thru thinking outside the box will we accomplish the positive. Otherwise, we’re all confirming Einstein’s definition of insanity.”

Dr. Donoway is involved in ongoing research in identifying the best chemo-immuno therapy and sequencing to be used along with Pancreatic nanoKnife/IRE.

Dr. Donoway states, “the results so far have been very encouraging, and we have begun using it for other select cancers. Among his longest survivors are now patients over 13 years without evidence of cancer recurrence. In the past without IRE, they would have lived a little over a year; so this technique opens a new avenue for treating those eligible patients in a more targeted fashion.”

Dr. Donoway presented his results in pancreatic ablation and ablation margin status at the recent Spectrum 2023 and the American Pancreatic Association meeting.

Let April be a time of preparation for the adventures ahead. Whether you're exploring a new hobby, starting a home project, or just spending more time outside, let the season inspire you.

Here's to a bright and exciting spring—and the summer fun that awaits!

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN
INVITED. WELCOMED. LOVED.

100th
ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

A Century of Faith and Blessings

The year 2025 marks the 100th Anniversary of the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood and its celebration of “A Century of Faith and Blessings.” As we commemorate our history and the blessings bestowed upon our spiritual home, we respectfully honor our founders and leaders, recognizing their prowess and unwavering dedication to establishing our wonderful Church and excellent school, where everyone is Invited, Welcomed, and Loved.

Founded in 1925, the congregation first met in the old Hollywood Central School Building. In 1934, a building from North Miami Beach was relocated to our Hollywood Boulevard property on the west side of 16th Avenue and converted into our first sanctuary. Following that, the Woman’s Group of First Presbyterian proudly raised $600 to purchase the property on the east side of 16th Avenue. In 1948, the Church built its present sanctuary on this location.

Upon the opening of the new sanctuary, the Church moved the temporary structure from the west side of 16th Avenue to Ojus in North Miami to serve another church. In 1954, First Presbyterian built a new educational center on the original church site. Over time, as the church facility evolved, the educational center also grew. That initial building became the first of three schools, which now span two campuses. Two of the buildings are on the main campus beginning at the southwest corner of 16th Avenue, and along with the well-known “Pumpkin Patch”, stretch along Hollywood Boulevard to 17th Avenue. The third school is located in Hollywood Hills on Wilson Street on the St. James Campus.

The Hollywood Learning Center is extremely well regarded and led by three highly qualified directors—Rebecca Ortiz, Jacqueline Carbonell, and Alba Aviles—each of whom has been with the school for at least 15 years. The leadership team upholds a strong work ethic and is dedicated to creating a loving, nurturing atmosphere for every child in their care. The Learning Center Advisory Board includes Church Pastor Kennedy McGowan, Church Member and Board Chair Helen Cohen (formerly with the Broward County Education System), and Church Member Kathryn Tyahla, a business executive. Other Board members are student parents and members of the Hollywood business community who graciously donate their time to the Church and the school.

First Presbyterian Church continues to be blessed with a wonderful, diverse, and growing congregation. It is fortunate to include young families and professionals as well as many longstanding active church members—several of whom have connections dating back to our early days.

The Gensel family enjoys three generations of active involvement. Matriarch Judy, a member since 1948, and her late husband Jerry were married in the Church in 1954. Today, Judy remains active in church leadership, as do her children and grandchildren.

Son Jim is the Church Director of Music, son Bob is a Church Elder, and granddaughter Kristen is the Office Manager. Another generational member is Bob Roddy, who grew up attending Church and Sunday School with his father, the late Dr. Robert Roddy. Bob, now retired from the educational and business sectors, serves as Head of Facilities and Landscaping for the Church and School.

First Presbyterian Church is also blessed to have an extremely long-tenured staff. In addition to those already mentioned, Pastor Kennedy McGowan has been with us for almost 20 years, and Building and Grounds Supervisor Bianca Lasica has served for over 30 years. Within the last five years, we have grown to include Daniel Williams, Director of Family Ministries, and his wife, Yezi Williams, Director of Community Outreach.

We are honored to share our milestone year with our beloved City of Hollywood and we are proud of the historic collaborations of our church leaders and the founding fathers of our beautiful city. Working with visionary Joseph Young, these individuals had the strength and foresight to create the city we all know and love—a city that offers a thriving central business district, outstanding residential neighborhoods, and a flourishing beach environment designed for the enjoyment of residents and visitors alike. It is complete with restaurants, bed and breakfasts, hotels, locally owned shops, and “Hollywood Beach,” often acclaimed as one of the most beautiful beaches in the country.

As we celebrate this centennial milestone, we invite everyone to join us in a future of continued faith, fellowship, and community service. May our next century be as richly blessed and welcoming as our first.

First Presbyterian Church and Learning Center are located at 1558-1600 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, FL 33020. If you would like more information about joining our congregation or learning about our programs, please reach out:

HOLLYWOOD HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S INAUGURAL HISTORIC HUNT AND DISCO BALL A SMASHING SUCCESS!

A Day of Discovery, Dancing, and Decades of History

On February 22, Hollywood's past came alive in a citywide celebration unlike any other. As part of the city's Centennial Celebration, the Hollywood Historical Society (HHS) transformed Hollywood into a life-sized game board, challenging participants with a historic scavenger hunt spanning all six city districts.

Then, as the sun set, the party shifted gears—and decades! The grounds of the Hammerstein House, home to the HHS, transported guests back to the 1970s with a dazzling Disco Ball featuring a DJ, a glowing dance floor, delicious food, drinks, and shopping. The evening proved that history and fun make the perfect duo!

Hunting Down the Past

"We had multiple goals with the History Hunt," explained Andy Ruffner, executive director of the Historical Society. "We wanted to work closely with the city, get new people of all ages interested in the city's history, of course, have fun, and most importantly, make sure that people know that our reach clearly extends to all corners of the city."

More than a dozen teams took on the challenge, racing against the clock to locate six historic sites within two hours. The hunt kicked off at City Hall, where Mayor Josh Levy flagged teams off with a set of cryptic clues leading them to iconic locations.

The sites—one in each district—were manned by the district's commissioner and an HHS director, who shared fascinating historical insights with participants.

At the start of the Disco Ball, winning teams were awarded valuable prizes, all generously donated by local Hollywood businesses.

Dancin' Back in Time

As '70s music filled the air and neon lights illuminated the dance floor, the Hammerstein House (1520 Polk Street) became a disco dream. The property was alive with vendors, food trucks, drink stations, and an enthusiastic crowd, many dressed in full disco regalia.

"The dance floor and its surrounds were full all night, until the music ended," reported attendees, who traveled from as far as New York and Canada—and as close as just across the alley—to take part in this unforgettable event.

The day wasn't just about fun—it was also a financial success for the HHS, an impressive feat for a first-time event. Several board members confirmed their excitement for the future, stating that they "fully intend to make history repeat itself next year with a second annual Hollywood Historical Society Historic Hunt and Disco Ball."

Keeping Hollywood's History Alive

This exciting event was just a glimpse of the Hollywood Historical Society's mission to preserve and share the city's rich history with current and future generations.

Want to experience Hollywood's history firsthand? The HHS offers free tours of the Historic Hammerstein House on the first Sunday of every month from 1 to 4 p.m. Private tours are also available by appointment. Plus, unique history-inspired gifts and memorabilia can be found at the HHS Research Center, located behind the Hammerstein House.

For more information or to schedule a visit, call 954-923-5590.

THE HIDDEN COST OF BACKYARD BREEDING: Gia's Story

Gia, a young puppy with a severe disability, was abandoned at the Humane Society by backyard breeders—just hours from euthanasia. Born with bilateral patellar luxation, her knees are permanently dislocated, and her condition is worsening. Without urgent surgery, she faces a life of pain and limited mobility.

When Atlanta Boeri learned of Gia's fate, she couldn't turn away. In September, she signed paperwork to pull her from the non-adoptable list. Now 11 months old, Gia faces months of surgeries and recovery. Her family canceled their summer vacation to care for her, choosing compassion over convenience.

Gia's case highlights a larger issue: backyard breeders dumping unsellable dogs at shelters. Many of these animals require costly medical care, shifting the burden to shelters and rescues. While these actions are recorded, little is done to regulate the businesses responsible. Volunteers say authorities are often unable—or unwilling—to intervene.

Public awareness is key to change. If enforcement agencies won't act, public pressure might. Stronger oversight and accountability are needed to prevent more animals like Gia from being abandoned.

Gia is getting a second chance—but many others won't. Addressing this issue requires community involvement and advocacy. Together, we can push for better regulations and ensure that no more dogs are discarded when they are no longer profitable.

RED FLAG WARNINGS

What Residents Need to Know

As dry conditions and strong winds persist, the National Weather Service (NWS) has issued Red Flag Warnings throughout South Florida, including Weston and surrounding areas. These warnings signal that critical fire weather conditions are either occurring now or are imminent, posing a heightened risk of wildfires.

What Does a Red Flag Warning Mean?

A Red Flag Warning is issued when low humidity, high winds, and dry vegetation combine to create a significant fire hazard. During this time, even a small spark can quickly become a fast-moving wildfire. For residents of Weston and other communities in South Florida, this means taking precautions to prevent accidental fires and being prepared to evacuate if necessary.

Safety Tips for Residents

- Avoid Outdoor Burning: Even small campfires or bonfires can easily get out of control during these conditions.
- Secure Outdoor Equipment: Make sure grills, fire pits, and other potential fire hazards are completely extinguished and properly stored.
- Dispose of Cigarettes Safely: Never discard lit cigarettes on the ground, especially in dry areas.
- Stay Informed: Keep up with local news and weather updates, and consider signing up for emergency alerts from the National Weather Service.

How to Stay Updated

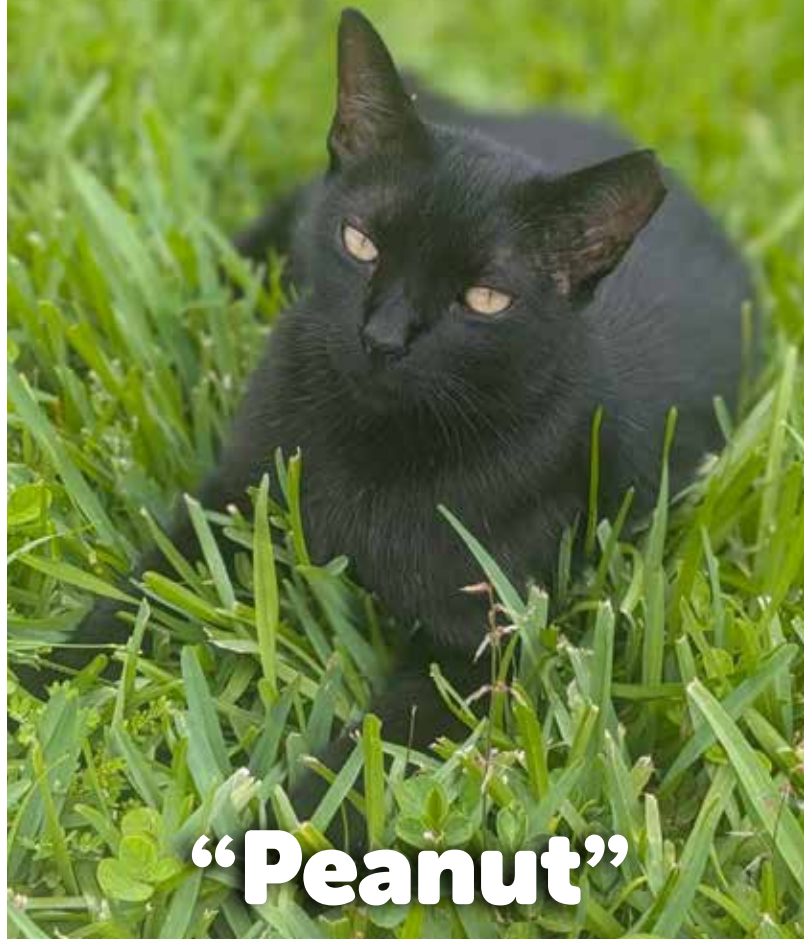

Residents are encouraged to monitor weather updates from trusted sources, including:

- National Weather Service (NWS): Visit weather.gov for real-time alerts and updates.
- Local News Stations: Stay tuned to TV and radio broadcasts for the latest information.
- Smartphone Apps: Download apps like the FEMA app or local news apps to receive push notifications when warnings are issued.

By staying vigilant and prepared, South Florida residents can help minimize the risks associated with Red Flag Warnings. Always exercise caution during these periods, and if you see smoke or signs of a wildfire, call 911 immediately.

Stay safe, stay informed, and do your part to prevent wildfires in our community.
